Online Digital Marketing

We are the classical search lead agency. We love studying consumer behaviour and always want to dig deeper to run analytics to understand what action on our site or campaign drives the behaviour. Running great search campaigns is the best way to demonstrate our passion for microscopic execution skills.

Search (PPC) Campaigns throw large number of data points through the various touch points of the Sales Funnel. It is both prescriptive and predictive both at the same time. It offers the best correlation with the online business revenue. It's paid. It's measurable. It delivers results.

Search Engine Optimization

Search engine optimization (SEO) is a process of promoting your business online by submitting your website in search engines for better business keyword visibility & business keyword rankings. Day-by-day online presence is getting competitive. Here is a brief introduction to Search engine marketing (SEM).

Search engines organically rank web businesses (your websites) based on a several factors. If these factors has been systematically implemented into your website from the beginning while choosing the right domain name for your business, designing of the website, tactical navigational structure planning, limited use of JavaScript HTML construction & optimization tactics, W3C validation of your HTML page code will makes the website better for end user as well as for the search engine. In the Search Engine Optimization (SEO) community, this kind of website is known as search engine friendly website
